Workplace Relations Commission

Work Programme 2019

Introduction

The core mission of the Workplace Relations Commission (WRC) centres around the promotion and improvement of industrial and employment relations generally, and the maintenance of proper employment standards which, in turn, contributes significantly to the architecture of economic and social development and growth.

In this regard, the collective and specialist services of the Commission play a vital role in contributing towards industrial peace, adjudicating on individual disputes and monitoring and enforcing compliance with employment standards across the economy. The WRC's primary goal has been to deliver on its mission in a manner that is user-friendly, effective and efficient.

Work Programme Requirement

Section 22(1) of the Workplace Relations Act 2015 provides that the Board, after consultation with the Director General, shall prepare and submit to the Minister, a Work Programme of the activities that the Commission intends to carry out in the year to which the Programme relates. Such a Programme must be submitted to the Minister for Business, Enterprise, and Innovation by 1 December every calendar year.

The Programme reviews performance in the previous year while a more structured evaluation against Work Programme Key Performance Indicators is published annually in the WRC Annual Report.

Statement of Strategy 2016-2018

The primary aim of the WRC's annual Work Programmes over the period 2016-2018 was to ensure that the WRC deployed its staffing and other resources appropriately to achieve the strategic objectives set out in the WRC Strategy Statement 2016-2018, Workplace Relations: Assisting the Recovery in a Changing and Challenging Environment.

At its centre, that Strategy focused on meeting the Government's fundamental goal of having in place a workplace relations service which is simple to use, independent, effective, impartial and efficient, to provide for workable means of redress and enforcement within a reasonable period and to reduce costs to business.

The Strategy reflected that vision and identified a range of objectives:

- Consolidating the Workplace Relations Commission
- Achieving an internally and externally recognised WRC culture and brand
- Ensuring robust corporate governance around delivery of services
- Driving value through technology
- Delivering high quality customer service
- Enhancing and expanding the dispute resolution service and related delivery
- Developing further and delivering an expert suite of collective and individual dispute resolution services
- Providing fast and efficient current complaint adjudication of the highest quality
- Driving employment legislation compliance through working with employers and, where necessary, robustly prosecuting recalcitrant employers
- Promoting awareness of employment law and becoming the “go-to” service for such information
- Publishing Regular Commentaries/Data on WRC activities and involving stakeholders on operational aspects of the WRC services

Work Programmes 2016-2018: Key Outcomes

Significant progress has been made in achieving the broad goals set out in the Strategy.

Over the period of the 2016 Work Programme, the WRC:

- put in place robust and corporate governance structures,
- established a new WRC Dublin office and initiated the development of a strategy to embed regionally the full suite of WRC services,
- established and bedded in the new Adjudication service,
- rolled out the revised compliance and enforcement approach framework as provided for in the Workplace Relations Act 2015,
- maintained the high standard of service and outcomes provided by the Conciliation division, and delivered a series of engagements provided on an ad hoc basis during this period,

- raised external brand awareness of the role of the WRC in the industrial relations and employment rights landscape, and
- began the process of developing a strong, customer-focused, shared internal WRC culture.

In 2017, the WRC built on the strong foundations set in the first full year of operations. In this regard:

- the first public regional office of the WRC was opened,
- a bespoke business-integrated communications strategy was developed and rolled out,
- the mediation service was expanded in terms of activity and locations,
- the adjudication service was improved further by way of;
  - standardised hearing procedures,
  - shortened hearing and decision times for current cases,
  - the legacy backlog of industrial relations complaints was virtually eliminated,
- the Inspection and Enforcement Division;
  - carried out successful targeted campaigns that impacted positively on compliance in particular sectors,
  - initiated a novel “outreach” programme aimed at improving awareness among workers and employers in SME’s of employment rights and responsibilities,
- the Conciliation Service, in addition to dealing with ongoing dispute demand, facilitated the negotiation of a comprehensive public service agreement and a number of very complex and resource-heavy transport disputes.

In the final year of the Strategy (2018) the WRC:

- published the results of its first annual customer survey which found that that overall satisfaction with the WRC and the WRC’s service provision is high – running at between 80% and 95% across most divisions,
- hosted a significant national seminar on emerging work trends and work patterns,
- within the appropriate timeframe, achieved the resolution of 85% of collective disputes referred to the WRC
- doubled the number of face-to-face mediations provided compared with 2017 – an increase of some 360% on 2016,
- had achieved a throughput from complaint to decision in under 6 months in over 90% of complaints received where no postponement requests arose and where all submissions and documentation received on time,

- worked closely with all parties in An Garda Síochána in advancing significantly the procedures around individual grievances and collective disputes to be used in the context of the access of An Garda Síochána to the WRC and the Labour Court,
- rolled out a new case management system and associated remote access devices that significantly enhances the efficacy and efficiency of the inspection and enforcement process,
- completed over 5,000 inspections and achieved compliance in over 90% of completed cases without recourse to enforcement,
- designed and rolled out an interactive and process-oriented WRC specific website that delivered clarity on organisational function, enhanced customer experience and process efficiencies,
- established a social media presence as part of its communications strategy to raise awareness of industrial relations, employment, equality and equal status rights and responsibilities, the related role of the WRC, and to drive traffic to the new website, and
- published research on the incidence of “Contingent Work” in Ireland in conjunction with the ESRI.

These achievements would not have been possible without the commitment and enthusiasm of the staff of the WRC, who have individually and collectively embraced and addressed the challenges that inevitably arise in the establishment of any new organisation and have been innovative and customer-focused in looking at new ways of working. The support of the relevant Ministers and the Department in terms of resource provision has been critical in providing the internal flexibility required to respond to constantly changing environment within which the WRC operates.

Statement of Strategy 2019-2022

In late-2018, the Board submitted a new Strategy Statement to the Minister ‘Fair and Compliant Workplaces and Equal Treatment in Services’.

Over the course of this Strategy, underpinned by the WRC Core Values of:

- Trust, Independence, Impartiality and Innovation,

and a Vision to be:

- a world leader in delivering fair and compliant workplaces and the non-discriminatory delivery of services,

the WRC Mission over the three years is to make sure that:

- people in dispute about compliance with employment or equality law<sup>1</sup>, or having conflicts in their workplaces will have their disputes resolved quickly and fairly.

More specifically, to deliver on these values, vision and mission, the Strategy sets out how best the WRC, over the period, will enhance service delivery:

- By promoting the improvement of, and the maintenance of good workplace relations,
- By promoting and encouraging compliance with relevant employment, equality and industrial relations law, and
- By promoting and delivering on the WRC's role in assisting parties in the resolution of disputes as well as informing them in respect of accessing the relevant WRC services.

Delivery Elements

Six key strategic delivery elements were identified in the Strategy:

- Service Excellence
- Outreach and Prevention
- Communication and Engagement
- Leveraging Technologies
- Data and Measurement
- People and Structure

This Strategy and the delivery elements provide the template and broad objectives for the WRC Work Programmes over the period.

Work Programme 2019: Key Goals

Within the general framework of the Statement of Strategy some key issues and objectives have been identified for 2019.

Service Excellence

Conciliation/Facilitation/Mediation

The Conciliation and Facilitation Service provided a very effective service in resolving some 85% of the collective disputes referred to the WRC during 2018 in a timely and efficient timeframe; this level of activity will be maintained during 2019.

The Mediation Service increased the number of face-to-face mediations provided by some 50% provided compared with 2017 – an increase of some 360% on 2016. Overall, the mediation service provided assistance in 1300 cases in 2018 – an increase of 220% on 2017. Similarly, this overall service provision will stand as the target for 2019

The three arms of the Service will work with An Garda Síochána during 2019 when, pending enabling legislation, it is expected that collective disputes and individual claims begin to be referred under the dispute procedures agreed separately under the auspices of the WRC during 2018.

Adjudication

Over the course of 2018 the Adjudication Service made significant progress:

- in over 90% of cases, decisions were issued within 6 months of the receipt of the complaint where no postponement requests had been tendered, all submissions/documentation received within time, and where external factors, such as related High Court proceedings, did not have an impact on processing times,
- by end-2018 the median time for a hearing was 16 weeks – this takes into account the impacting factors mentioned above and statutory pauses that must apply in certain industrial relations and dismissal cases, and
- the legacy caseload was reduced significantly and the remainder<sup>2</sup> have a hearing scheduled or are awaiting a decision, or a relevant outcome from ECJ/Higher Courts before they can be progressed.

Nonetheless, further improvements in service will be delivered over 2019.

The Service will build on the progress made on processing and scheduling times over the course of 2019 with a view to achieving the ultimate strategic goal of processing most cases within 6 months by 2022.

With this in mind, the Service will explore with stakeholders how best to process postponement requests efficiently so that “back filling” of hearing slots can take place, and how best to ensure that submissions are received on time, implement the agreed solutions and monitor impact.

Similarly, further progress will be made in terms of the time-frame between the receipt of a complaint to the issuing of the relevant decision.

Over the period of this Programme, the Service will bring on stream additional external Adjudicators to replace those who have stepped back from the function over the recent past, and to deal with increased demand arising from the expanded Garda Síochána remit.

Inspection and Enforcement

The Inspection and Enforcement Division concluded over 5,000 inspections during 2018: an increase of 6% on the total inspections in 2017. This level of inspection activity will continue into 2019.

In addition, the Division will continue its operations across all sectors and will undertake targeted inspections campaigns in sectors such as equine, fisheries, nail bars, car washes and specific professional sectors. Some of these will be carried out in conjunction with other enforcement agencies.

The Division, utilising the enhanced functionality of its new case management system, will focus the inspection activity more on potentially non-compliant employers, or particular high-risk sectors.

Advisory

In addition to continuing to deliver its broad suite of services, the Advisory Service roll out of the cross-functional WRC cadre upskilled in 2018 to meet appropriate demand over time for enterprise-level “best practice” education (e.g. workplace procedures, communications, the mediation process, dignity in the workplace, dealing with conflict, etc.) and educative interventions where workplace relations may benefit from some external support. This will be done in conjunction with relevant stakeholders

It will utilise the Frequent Users Programme to identify those parties who may be of benefit from such training initiatives.

Outreach and Prevention

Over the course of 2019, the WRC will work pro-actively with stakeholders, key influencers, companies and organisations nationally to support deeper understanding of good practice, prevent breaches, including those relating to exploitative labour practices, close gaps early and embed a culture of good workplace relations.

In this regard, the WRC, in conjunction with Chartered Accountants Ireland, will publish a comprehensive employment law guide, building out from the concept of embedding employer and employee rights and responsibilities in the context of key stages in a person's working life as developed in the WRC's 2017 Guide to Working Life. This will be of particular assistance to SME's and "Start Ups" who may not have a formal HR function located within the organisation.

Apart from its immediate beneficial impact, the Guide will serve as a basis for developing further targeted guides for particular sectors, stakeholders and influencers in workplace relations generally.

Communications and Engagement

The WRC communications and engagement strategy will be utilised to effectively deliver key messages around remit, service, value and impartiality.

Building on the roll out of WRC social media platforms in 2018, the revised website, and other communications channels, and following engagement with relevant stakeholders, the WRC will carry out awareness raising campaigns in the following areas in 2019:

- the role of the WRC in receiving and processing equal status complaints including in the areas of the discrimination in the provision of accommodation and discrimination in the provision of educational services,
- the role of the WRC in receiving and processing complaints from An Garda Síochána,
- work with stakeholders to identify suitable areas of interest where the WRC could deliver value through a series of "webinars" in relation to employment rights/codes of practice etc.
- deliver awareness raising campaign among SMEs in relation to the proposed publication on employment law.

Further campaigns will be considered in the context of inspectorate activity in high-risk sectors.

Leveraging Technology

The WRC will continue to design and rollout business applications on its CRM (Customer Relations Management) technology platform to support and underpin its operations, drive efficiency and effectiveness and inform decision-making. Applications have already been rolled out in the Complaints and Adjudication and Inspection and Enforcement areas while planning is at an advanced stage for the procurement, design, build and rollout of applications in 2019 to support, Conciliation, Facilitation, Mediation, and Advisory operations.

On completion of the rollout of business applications for the Conciliation, Facilitation, Mediation, and Advisory services, the majority of the operations and services of the WRC will be supported by a single CRM technology platform, replacing the disparate legacy systems that were inherited by the WRC on establishment.

Over the period of the Programme, the WRC will exploit fully the investment in new business applications and remote/mobile functionality and devices to significantly enhance operational efficiency and effectiveness. Insofar as inspections are concerned, the WRC will also explore how this technology can be utilised appropriately in conjunction with other public bodies to enhance targeting and risk profiling and further drive employment rights compliance.

In this regard, the WRC will work to integrate its technology platform with Department of Employment Affairs and Social Protection and Revenue Commissioners systems to facilitate the sharing of information and further compliance between the two organisations in relation to enforcement.

The WRC will, following consultation and engagement with stakeholders and users, review and design an upgrade to its existing e-Complaint Facility to enhance user experience and further leverage integration with the WRC's technology platform.

In conjunction with the Department of Business, Enterprise and Innovations, the WRC will explore the potential uses of enhanced automated business processes.

Data and Measurement

In accordance with the Statement of Strategy 2019-2022, the WRC, wherever possible, will access appropriately and utilise real time, accurate data to help deliver the best possible service.

The new inspection platform will be fully exploited during 2019 to produce "real time" management information on the inspection and enforcement process.

Similar use will be made of the Adjudication platform to assist the Division reach its processing goals as set out in the Strategy.

The Inspection Division of the WRC will continue to explore with other organisations the possibility of further appropriate sharing of information on non-complaint employers and in possible trafficking cases.

People and Structure

The Statement of Strategy 2019-2022 sets a key goal for the WRC: to be a highly flexible organisation, capable of rapidly responding to changes in demand and priorities.

Throughout 2019, the WRC will build on the cross-functional range of activities that the organisation has developed since inception. This is critical in ensuring that the WRC has the skills and capacity to respond promptly and ably to demand shift across Divisions. In this regard and given the staff churn occurring across the WRC and the civil service more generally, the cross-organisational roll out of the coaching and skills training element of the HR Plan will be completed during 2019.

The WRC is based in several regional locations: Dublin, Carlow, Cork, Shannon, and Sligo. Over 2019, the WRC will work with the Office of Public Works to locate the South/South West regional office and the West regional office in premises capable of hosting the full range of WRC services by the end of the year. At present, only the Dublin and Sligo offices have this capability.
